

Abstract

TITLE:

Nietzsche's philosophical conception of man focused on criticism of religion and the revaluation of values

AUTHOR:

Gabriela Turýnská

DEPARTMENT:

Social sciences and philosophy department

SUPERVISOR:

Doc. PhDr. Naděžda Plecová, CSc.

ABSTRACT:

The thesis aims for analysis of Nietzsche's views on the human nature and education. It captures the evolution of his views on the nature of humanity with regard to the importance of body, will, intellect, relationship of the individual and society. It analyses the basic terms of the Nietzsche's philosophy like a man, the last man and Superman, as well as the terms of will to power and reassessment of all values. The end of the thesis points out influence of the Nietzsche's philosophy and the potential application his education-concept today.

KEYWORDS:

Philosophical anthropology, will to power, morality of masters and slaves, Superman